Dear Chairman Genachowski:

Thank you for the opportunity to submit comments in support of LightSquared's License Modification Application.

As you know, parts of rural America are limited in their wireless choices. As a business owner in rural southeast Missouri, most of my neighbors, family, friends, and fellow business owners don't have access to high-speed wireless broadband. My area of the state is seriously impacted by the lack of competition and choice when it comes to wireless services. It's because of these kinds of discrepancies that I write to urge you to do all within your power to see that rural America doesn't become less and less relevant within our country.

I think it is more than enough for LightSquared to give up its rights to use the spectrum that was the source of controversy around interference issues with GPS. This olive branch, in my opinion, is ample justification for the FCC to allow LightSquared to enter into a spectrum sharing agreement with the federal government. If sharing spectrum means that rural communities across Missouri and the country get quicker access to a competitive nationwide mobile broadband network, then please move with haste.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Danielle Berry
